Cultural Heritage Gazetteer

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
100	Findspot	Later Medieval /Early Post-Medieval	Late Medieval/Tudor pottery found in the Sidley Wood area. WS Observation: none seen during survey but quarry earthworks survive at this location in woodland. Brickworks shown on OS Second Edition map of 1895-8 to west of road.	21
101	Earthworks	?Post-Medieval	Ridge and Furrow earthworks, straight in shape suggesting a Post-Medieval date. WS Observation: nothing seen at this location in pasture field.	123
102	Earthwork	Later Medieval /Post-Medieval	An area of terracing related to earlier land boundaries. WS Observation: visible as curvilinear earthwork in pasture field.	124
103	Archaeological Site	Uncertain	Possible bloomery site of unknown date at Sidley. WS Observation: nothing seen at this location.	68
104	Archaeological Site	Later Medieval	Possible site of medieval bloomery located under the railway line in an area known as Cinder Banks. WS Observation: nothing seen at this location.	13
105	Findspot	Neolithic/ Bronze Age	Triangular flint arrowhead of the late Neolithic to early Bronze Age. WS Observation: nothing seen at this location.	20
106	Map Feature	?Later Medieval	Site of Combe Farm, shown on 1st Ed 6" map. Now gone. WS Observation: nothing seen at this location but a quarry was noted in scrub woodland immediately to the south.	92
107	Surface Finds	Uncertain	Area with a concentration of slag waste products, date unknown. Nothing seen at this location in woodland during walkover survey.	128
108	Archaeological Site	Romano-British	Site of large Romano-British bloomery in Little Henniker Wood, including a cinder bank. Location not accessed during walkover survey. Nothing visible in dense woodland from pasture field to west.	34, 64
109	Archaeological Site	Romano-British	Excavated site of a Romano-British Bloomery dating to the late 1st century/early 2nd century AD. Many sherds of Samian and native type RB coarse ware, as well as several pieces of furnace components have been found in the area. May have originated as an Iron Age extraction/processing site (Leslie & Short, 1999, 22), with a settlement close by. Further Iron Age extraction/processing sites may be located in this area. WS Observation: visible as rectangular earthwork on south-west edge of field. Protected by ESCC designated Archaeologically Sensitive Area (OA 124).	25, 298

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
110	Earthwork	Modern	Part of the route of a tramway from the Hastings Corporation 'WW' Pumping Station to Adams Farm, first shown on OS maps of 1907-10. WS Observation: northern part only survives as earthwork embankment. See also extant features OA 307, 308, 309 and 310 .	134
111	Historic Landscape Feature	?Later Medieval	Old parish boundary between Crowhurst and Hollington as identified from Tithe Maps. WS Observation: boundary follows the extant course of the stream to the west of Adam's Farm.	135
112	Historic Landscape Feature	?Post-Medieval	Site of a quarry dated to 1907-1910, when it appears on the 3rd edition 6" OS Map. WS Observation: extant but obviously not quarried recently. OS and historic map evidence not conclusive, may have existed prior to early 20th century.	133
113	Earthwork	?Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Remains of possible enclosure were discovered to the SW of Decoy Pond Wood during a walkover survey in 1992. WS Observation: NGR and description given in SMR appears to be erroneous. Earthworks were seen further to the east, comprising a possible platform north of field entrance. Possibly a modern feature from use of field entrance.	53
114	Historic Landscape Feature	?Post-Medieval	Decoy Pond. Three field names on Hollington tithe award using the term decoy pond (1843-7); traces of pond still visible in wood. WS Observation: extant pond in wood but has been partially re-cut by machine.	71
115	Earthworks/ Map Feature	?Post-Medieval	Kiln Field, name in Hollington tithe award, 1842. Possible kiln location. WS Observation: several terraces evident over north and part of west of this field.	74
116	Surface Finds	Neolithic/ Bronze Age/ Iron Age	A surface artefact collection survey carried out by Oxford Archaeology that revealed a discrete cluster of fire-cracked flint (possibly of late Neolithic/early Bronze Age date), indicating activity in the area during this period. This work also identified a small scatter of metal slag suggesting later reuse of the site for iron-working, possibly in the Iron Age. WS Observation: not possible to access this precise location due to arable crop. Nothing seen from field edge c.20m to south.	51
117	Historic Landscape Feature	?Later Medieval/ Early Post-Medieval	Historic routeway, now a hollow way. WS Observation: holloway continues to north as earthworks in pasture as far as northing 110800. Part of historic trackway OA 290 .	85
118	Findspot	?Bronze Age	An oak log of Middle Bronze Age date, which has probably been shaped by humans, was found near Monkham Wood. WS Observation: nothing seen at this location in pasture field.	57

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
119	Earthworks	?Later Medieval/Early Post-Medieval	Bellpits in Monkham Wood. WS Observation: northern half of woodland includes a large number of pits and hollows.	89
121	Archaeological Site	?Prehistoric/ Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Field evaluation by Wessex Archaeology in 1996. Seven trenches dug to the north (OA 121A and B) and south (OA 121 C to G) of Upper Wiltling Farm to test theory that Norman invasion forces in 1066 landed here and built a number of features. No evidence to support this theory was found. A buried soil located in trench G (OA 121G) was possibly of prehistoric origin but there was 'no clear evidence for either domestic settlement or industrial activity' (Wessex Archaeology 1996, 8.6.7). Trench C showed a 'burial mound' to be a natural feature with no evidence of burials within it (OA 121C; ibid , 8.6.3). Trenches E and G showed that the proposed remains of jetties were natural features well above the sea level of the 11th century (OA 121E and G; ibid , 8.6.5, 8.6.7). No remains were found in Trench F of boats nor was there any evidence that such deposits may have been removed (OA 121F; ibid , 8.6.6). The proposed site of an earthwork fortification at the landing site was found to consist of two infilled, natural palaeochannels (Trench D, OA 121D; ibid 8.6.4), with some evidence of agricultural activity on the marsh edge in the 19th or 20th centuries. The earthworks on the site of the proposed second fortification and camp to the north of Upper Wiltling Farm was shown to be of 12th to 14th century date, and to be of domestic or farming origin (Trench A; OA 121A; ibid 8.6.1). This activity was also seen in Trench B. No evidence was recovered of any fortification, castle or chapel site (Trench B; OA121B; ibid , 8.6.2).	136, 137 Wessex Archaeology 1996
122	Map Feature	?Later Medieval	Chapel Field on Wiltling Farm, name in Hollington tithe award of 1842. A chapel existed on the manor of Wiltling in the early 12th century. WS Observation: large earthwork 'platform' present.	75
123	Earthworks	?Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Trackway terraced into hillside. WS Observation: slight terrace or lynchet evident at this location but NGR probably erroneous. More obvious terraced trackway located c 70m to NE, see OA 260 below.	91
124	Archaeologically Sensitive Area	Romano-British	Archaeologically Sensitive Area designated by East Sussex County Council around location of Roman bloomery site (OA 109).	CBA 2004 Fig. 2.1

137	Ancient Woodland	?Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Ancient Woodland in English Nature inventory (CBA 2004), Church Wood	CBA 2004 Fig. 2.1
138	Earthwork	?Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Decoy Pond, possibly Later Medieval. WS Observation: pond has been recently re-cut by machine and most of original form now removed.	121

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
139	Findspot	Mesolithic	Findspot of a Mesolithic flint tranchet axe in Bexhill. Findspot location appears to be nominal, original location uncertain but in Bexhill area.	22
140	Historical Reference	?Early Medieval	Reference in a document of AD 722 suggesting the presence of an Anglo-Saxon/Early Medieval monastery in the Bexhill area. Location at this point appears to be nominal: reference applies to historic core of Bexhill.	24
141	Archaeological Site	Uncertain	Bloomery of an uncertain date near dismantled railway.	18
142	Findspot	?Bronze Age	Barbed and tanged (?Bronze Age) flint arrowhead found on Bexhill Down after fire in about 1926.	12
143	Archaeological Site	Prehistoric Roman Post-Medieval Modern	Archaeological evaluation by Wessex Archaeology of land to south of Upper Wiling Farm in 1995. Evaluation included surface artefact collection, limited geophysical survey, and trial trenching. Evaluation uncovered evidence of activity of prehistoric (Neolithic, Bronze Age and Iron Age), Roman, Post-Medieval and Modern origin. Results included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A cluster of Late Neolithic and Roman pottery at east end of field near railway bridge (OA 143 A);</li> <li>• A hearth associated with Late Bronze Age or Early Iron Age pottery to the west of Monkham Wood (OA 143 B);</li> <li>• A cluster of Early Bronze Age pottery (OA 143 C);</li> <li>• Prehistoric pottery sealed beneath deposits of colluvium up to 1.5m in depth (OA 143 D);</li> <li>• A ditch containing Early Bronze Age pottery (OA 143 E);</li> <li>• A possible hearth containing Early Bronze Age pottery (OA 143 F).</li> </ul>	WA 1995a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
144	Archaeological Site	Prehistoric Post-Medieval Modern	Archaeological evaluation by Wessex Archaeology of land north-east of Little Worsham Farm in 1995. Evaluation included surface artefact collection, limited geophysical survey, and trial trenching. Evaluation uncovered: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Limited evidence of prehistoric and Roman activity;</li> <li>• Post-Medieval field boundaries; and</li> <li>• Deposits of Post-Medieval colluvium.</li> </ul>	WA 1995b
145	Geophysical survey anomaly	?Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Traces of possible former field boundary or trackway evident, parallel to OA 225. Cluster of individual anomalies also present, origin uncertain.	BCC 2006
146	Geophysical survey anomaly	?Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Traces of parallel former cultivation marks (eg ridge and furrow) and boundary ditches evident. Scatter of individual anomalies also present, origin uncertain.	BCC 2006
147	Geophysical survey anomaly	?Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Pair of linear features probably representing former field boundary ditches evident.	BCC 2006
148	Geophysical survey anomaly	Uncertain	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Traces of two linear features evident, uncertain origin.	BCC 2006
149	Geophysical survey anomaly	Uncertain	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Linear features and individual magnetic anomalies detected but of uncertain origin.	BCC 2006

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
150	Geophysical survey anomaly	?Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Faint trace of a linear feature detected, possibly representing cultivation mark.	BCC 2006
152	Geophysical survey anomaly	Uncertain	Magnetic anomalies detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Cluster of distinct magnetic anomalies detected, possibly related to OA 153 .	BCC 2006
200	Earthwork	Uncertain	Site of probable former quarry. Shown as woodland on OS First Edition map.	n/a
201	Earthworks	Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary.	n/a
202	Earthworks	Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Two curvilinear terraces or lynchets, probably indicating former cultivation (and possibly field boundaries) to the west of the stream.	n/a
203	Earthworks	Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Complex of earthworks consisting of a hollow at a probably natural streamhead or spring, with a possible pond to the east.	n/a
204	Earthworks	Later Medieval/Post-Medieval	Pair of ponds along course of stream issuing from spring at OA 203 .	n/a
205	Surface Finds	Uncertain	Scatter of burnt flint noted in west corner of arable field at NGR 575290 109900	n/a
206	Surface Finds	?Roman	Scatter of possibly Roman pottery noted on northern edge of arable field at NGR 574941 109934	n/a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
207	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary on south and part of west side of woodland. Consists of external ditch and bank; bank has mature trees and grown-out coppice stools. Northern part of woodland shown as woodland on OS First Edition map, and also recorded as woodland on Bexhill tithe map of 1839 and award of 1843.	n/a
208	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Linear scarp in pasture field, possibly indicating former boundary.	n/a
209	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary.	n/a
210	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Holloway where land passes between banked field boundaries topped with hedgerows, c 150m long.	n/a
211	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary on north side of Little Henniker wood. Consists of external ditch and bank; bank has mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
212	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary on southern and south-western side of Great Henniker wood. Consists of external ditch and bank; bank has mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
213	Earthwork	Uncertain	Former quarry pit in Great Henniker wood.	n/a
214	Earthwork	Uncertain	Complex of former quarry pits in Great Henniker wood, some flooded.	n/a
215	Earthwork	Uncertain	Former quarry pit in Great Henniker wood.	n/a
216	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary on north-western side of Great Henniker wood. Consists of external ditch and bank; bank has mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
217	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary on northern side of Great Henniker wood. Consists of external ditch and bank; bank has mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
218	Surface Finds	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Scatter of Later Medieval or Post-Medieval ceramic building material (including peg-hole tile) on southern edge of arable field at NGR 574830 110850	n/a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
219	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary on eastern side of Great Henniker wood. Consists of external ditch and bank; bank has mature trees and grown-out coppice stools. Bank intermittent.	n/a
220	Earthworks	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Two curvilinear terraces or lynchets, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly field boundaries.	n/a
221	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary. Over-lain by current N-S field boundary	n/a
222	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Linear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation. Hedgerow on earthwork.	n/a
223	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary. Hedgerow on earthwork.	n/a
224	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Access trackway to OA 305 , embanked to north, forms holloway to south. Partly follows historic trackway OA 284 .	n/a
225	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary.	n/a
226	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary.	n/a
227	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial earthwork consisting of a curvilinear trackway terraced into the steep hillside, partly forming a holloway. Shown on OS First Edition map of 1869-75 but not on subsequent editions. Marks course of Historic Trackway OA 291 .	n/a
228	Earthwork	Uncertain	Former quarry pit in wood to north of Bynes Farm.	n/a
229	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along current field-boundary and woodland to north of Bynes Farm. Consists of bank with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
230	Historic Landscape Feature	Uncertain	Pond and spring to north of Bynes Farm. Shown on OS First Edition map of 1869-75	n/a
231	Earthwork	Uncertain	Possible former quarry pit to south-east of Bynes Farm.	n/a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
232	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Holloway running south to water-meadows. Formed part of historic route between Bynes and Acton's Farms OA 286 .	n/a
233	Earthwork	?Modern	Raised bank across part of water-meadows. Very straight and regular. Visible as magnetic anomaly detected during geophysical survey (Bartlett-Clark Consultancy 2006, Fig. 17). Probably modern services.	n/a
234	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary. Joins current field boundaries at either end.	n/a
235	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary.	n/a
236	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow. Adjacent to RB iron-working site OA 109 .	n/a
237	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace or lynchet, probably indicating former cultivation and possibly a field boundary.	n/a
238	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
239	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary. Hedgerow along southern part.	n/a
240	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
241	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
242	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
243	Historic Landscape Feature	Uncertain	Over grown former quarry recorded in tithe award of 1841 as woodland, shown on OS First Edition 25" map of 1873 as woodland. Possibly quarried when railway constructed late in 19th century. Woodland boundary on south-eastern side includes bank with mature trees.	n/a
244	Earthwork	?Post Medieval	Possible site of silted up duck decoy pond in pasture field. Tithe map and award of 1844/2 record field name 'Old Decoy Pond Brook'. Consists of shallow hollow with possible bank to southern side and channel to east.	n/a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
245	Earthwork	?Post Medieval	Possible site of duck decoy pond in pasture field. Tithe map and award of 1844/2 record field name 'Old Decoy Pond Brook'. Extant pond has been machine dug.	n/a
246	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
247	Earthwork	?Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Platform formed in pasture field by substantial, angular and curvilinear bank, which continues south of current field boundary and appears to be cut by a drain on the water-meadow.	n/a
248	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along part of north-west edge of wood.	n/a
249	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
250	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Faint traces of possible ridge and furrow cultivation south of hedgerow in pasture field.	n/a
251	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
252	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval ?Modern	Consists of curvilinear terrace or lynchet (possible former field boundary) and a possible holloway running to the SW. Holloway may be a modern feature created by tractor access down steep slope.	n/a
253	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along west edge of woodland. Consists of bank with mature trees.	n/a
254	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along north edge of Monkham Wood. Consists of bank and external ditch with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
255	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along west edge of Monkham Wood. Consists of bank and external ditch with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
256	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along south-west edge of Chapel Wood. Consists of bank and external ditch with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
257	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow on the southern edge of Chapel Wood.	n/a
258	Earthwork	Uncertain	Complex of earthworks in Chapel Wood. Consists of one or possibly two lynchets or terraces that may represent an eroded holloway, and a quarry south of the modern road. All features may be modern in origin but difficult to tell due to much recent machine disturbance particularly in west half of wood.	n/a
259	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along part of the eastern boundary of Park Wood. Consists of bank and external ditch with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools. Terrace OA 260 is immediately to the west.	n/a
260	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear terrace in hillside forming trackway immediately to the east of the woodland boundary OA 259 . Continues north of woodland boundary into interior of wood. Possibly the feature referred to in OA 123 .	n/a
261	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear bank, possibly a coppice bank or other internal woodland boundary	n/a
262	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear bank, possibly a coppice bank or other internal woodland boundary	n/a
263	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear bank, possibly a coppice bank or other internal woodland boundary	n/a
264	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Curvilinear bank, possibly a coppice bank or other internal woodland boundary	n/a
265	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Raised embankment through woodland with trackway on top. Gradually fades away to north.	n/a
266	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along part of west edge of Park Wood. Consists of bank and external ditch with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
267	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along part of south-east edge of Park Wood. Consists of bank and external ditch with mature trees and grown-out coppice stools.	n/a
268	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Woodland boundary along boundary to east of Park Wood. Consists of bank with mature trees. May represent former woodland edge or a hedgerow boundary that has grown out.	n/a

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
269	Earthwork	Modern	Bank across top of hill. Very likely to be a modern feature associated with driver training on the site.	n/a
270	Historic Landscape Feature	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Holloway to south of Mayfield Farm. Part of former lane between Crowhurst and Hollington, mainly removed in late 20th century.	n/a
271	Earthwork	Modern	Area to east of Park Wood and west of new Queensway/Crowhurst Road appears to have been subject to substantial landscaping in recent past.	n/a
272	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
273	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
274	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Substantial curvilinear terrace or lynchet forming a field boundary with a hedgerow.	n/a
275	Earthwork	Later Medieval/ Post-Medieval	Complex of earthworks consisting of lynchet in south-west corner of field, forming a platform or raised area, with a slightly depressed linear feature to the east, possibly a silted-up drain.	n/a

304	Historic Structure	Modern	An abandoned late 19th or early 20th century railway shed on the western side of the railway line. The shed has two loading bays with timber canopies, leading to a long covered platform and single length of line. There are the remains of heavy timber doors at each end of the shed, blocking access from the railway. The shed is brick with a slate roof supported on timber trusses; there are large arched windows with iron frames. Despite being in very poor condition the building retains a wealth of original features relating to its former use. Formerly part of the Sidley Railway Station complex OA 304 .	n/a

400	Historic Farmstead	?Later Medieval	Glover's Farm. The farm complex does not include any Listed Buildings. The main historic buildings are the farmhouse and a large brick barn to its west, a small brick outbuilding and a cowshed to the south of the farmhouse. Most of the other buildings within the complex are modern. Although the date of the house is unknown, it may be 16th or 17th century in origin. The large 19th century barn to the west of the farmhouse is made of brick and has a slate roof. Scars on the west side may relate to now vanished buildings. This barn is almost certainly the one shown on the Ordnance Survey First Edition map of 1873, which replaced the small buildings shown on the 1839 tithe map. The two small brick buildings (outbuilding and cow-house) which lie to the south of the farmhouse are not shown on historic mapping and may be late 19th or early 20th century in origin.	268
401	Historic Farmstead	?Later Medieval	Acton's Farm. None of the buildings are Listed. Historic mapping shows that Acton's Farm has always been small and historically it consisted of a small dwelling house, a barn and a few outbuildings. The 19th century barn is all that remains of this complex and has recently been converted into a home. A brick stable block attached to the barn appears to be late 20th century. The site of the farmhouse is now occupied by an early 20th century bungalow, with a late 20th century bungalow adjacent to this. The other buildings on the site are modern.	270
402	Historic Farmstead	?Later Medieval	Bynes Farm. The farm is centred on a 16th century half timbered dwelling house which is Grade II Listed ( OA 407 ). There are a number of brick outbuildings around the farm all of which appear to be late 19th or early 20th century in origin. To the west of the house lies a small complex of ancillary buildings which includes modern stable blocks, a 20th century outbuilding and a timber barn. The barn sits on brick footings but it is clear that there are several phases to the timberwork, which may have a 16th century core.	236
403	Historic Farmstead	Modern	Hillcroft Farm includes the Grade II Listed Royal Oak Cottage ( OA 408 ). Historical map evidence suggests that this complex did not comprise a separate farming unit distinguishable from Bynes Farm until the mid 20th century. These buildings are almost all modern, although a single late 19th or early 20th century brick structure lies within the complex. A number of 20th century bungalows lie to the north.	254

OA No.	Feature Type	Period	Description	CBA 2004 ref/source.
404	Historic Farmstead	?Later Medieval	Adam's Farm consists of a Grade II Listed farmhouse (OA 409), a barn and a number of small detached ancillary buildings. The farmhouse and outbuildings are now in domestic use but the barn still functions as an agricultural building. The house is built around a two storey 16th century wing on the eastern side. On the west there are a number of later extensions. Early features are all internal and were not inspected during the site visit. Outbuildings include a number of dispersed small brick structures, one of which is a former cow house. The 19th century brick barn has a slate roof and large openings on the east and west side.	237, 238
405	Historic Farmstead	?Later Medieval	Upper Wiltling Farm consists of a Grade II Listed 18th century farmhouse (OA 410) with two small farmyards behind. Upper Wiltling retains many of its outbuildings and there are few modern sheds. These outbuildings appear to be 19th century in date. The most spectacular of the buildings is the impressive timber barn, of 17th or 18th century date. This barn lacks most of its clapper-board covering but the main frame is well preserved. Although there are several phases of repair, much of the primary structure appears to be intact. Place-name evidence ('Wiltingas') suggests that the area around Lower and Upper Wiltling farms was the location of an Early Medieval settlement (CBA 2004, 3.4.24).	247, 263
406	Historic Farmstead	?Later Medieval	Mayfield Farmhouse is Listed at Grade II (OA 411). There is a seemingly modern bungalow close to the house. The barn to the east was not visible from the farmyard at the time of the survey. The Link Road Route does not appear to be visible either from the farmhouse or the barn.	249,250
